Resource Report

Summer 2016 • www.gallina.com

Greetings!

Summer is finally here! Whip out the sunscreen, jump in the pool and enjoy the sun. While you're having fun, we're staying cool indoors preparing mid-year tax extensions. In this month's Resource Report, we'll learn if gamification could play at your company, and if streamlining your inventory management can boost cash flow.

All information contained in our newsletters can always be found and downloaded from the GALLINA website. Contact us today at 1.800.350.6774 or solutions@gallina.com.

Would Gamification Play at Your Company

"Gamification" — it's not the easiest word to say. But the concept is catching on with many businesses.

In its most general sense, the term refers to integrating elements of game-playing into business-related tasks as a way to better engage the people involved.

New Product or Different Presentation?

Since its inception, the Sec. 199 domestic production activities deduction (DPAD) has caused great confusion to many taxpayers trying to comply with its provisions. Though its intent was simple—to provide relief to U.S. manufacturers—its implementation has spawned a labyrinth of litigation, administrative rules, and procedures.
